Funds will be used for a research study to understand how veterans and civilians with spinal cord injury experience recovery in their first year after injury as they attempt to reintegrate into the community.

Chief of Staff

Department of Public Safety

- The MetroHealth Police Department applied for and received the Public Safety Interoperable Communications Equipment Grant offered through the county. The grant allowed the department to purchase new radios to increase interoperability among safety forces and keep our patients and visitors safe. The department is receiving 60 new radios at a cost of $4,000 each.
- Members of MHPD's bicycle unit participated in Slow Roll in June. Slow Roll is a social bike ride that meets at a different location every Monday. On June 3rd and July 22nd, the ride began at MetroHealth's main campus.
- FBI agents were onsite on July 10th to conduct Active Shooter Training with our officers.
- Extra security measures have been implemented at the pharmacies at Cleveland Heights, Brecksville, Parma and Bedford to address the ongoing opioid crisis.

Government Relations

- On June 3rd MetroHealth partnered with the United States Department of State to host public health and medical leadership from the Ukraine. Our senior leadership exchanged information and ideas about best practice cancer care, children's health, and disaster preparedness strategies with the international guests.
- July 9-10, MetroHealth leaders met with federal delegation members to discuss Medicaid Disproportionate Share Hospital (DSH) payment cuts and other health system priorities. MetroHealth along with other health systems are requesting DSH cuts to be delayed.
- The state budget deliberations continued throughout the months of May and June and the biennial budget was signed by Governor Dewine last week. MetroHealth bill providing intellectual property protections for charter county hospitals was signed into law with the budget.
- The Community Trauma Institute presented at the Cuyahoga County Mayors & City Managers quarterly meeting on June 24 to discuss Trauma Informed Response Trainings.

Community Engagement

- We held a series of three community events where we presented to a total of 174 people in residents, small business owners, and neighborhood organizations in the Clark -Fulton and Broadway neighborhoods. We updated community members on MH progress around neighborhood initiatives, programming and planned investments. A facilitated Q & A session elicited valuable feedback and spurred interest in an ongoing conversation. Overall sentiment was positive. The next meeting is scheduled for July 16th in Tremont and three Open House events will be held in the Campus Transformation Center for August 6, 8 and 15.
- Two MH Board of Trustee members, Vanessa Whiting and John Hairston, are now partnering with the Safe Sleep Team to leverage their networks through Popeyes and through the Cleveland Public Library to distribute Safe Sleep materials through each organization's existing distribution networks.

Marketing & Communications

- The sixth annual stakeholders meeting, held at the Cleveland Convention Center on June 28th received rave reviews from attendees, with 99 percent rating the event a 4 or 5 on a 5-point scale. Nearly $7,000 was donated to social determinants of health services through a text to give option.
- Press coverage of this year's annual meeting was widespread, positive and included reporting from Cleveland.com, The Plain Dealer, WCPN Ideastream, Crain's Cleveland Business, TV3, TV8 and TV19 as well as Modern Healthcare and Becker's Hospital Review. In addition, it stirred national interest from The Commonwealth Fund and led to two overwhelmingly positive editorials from The Plain Dealer and Crain's.
- The Communications team also began steps to launch a pilot patient storytelling project modeled after a successful VA program called My Life, My Story.

The Community Trauma Institute

- The Institute provided our first educational module to the South Euclid-Lyndhurst school district. The training was a cross collaboration with the Mayor's office and school district. In attendance were the Mayor of Lyndhurst, Lyndhurst Chief of Police, their Juvenile Court Judge, school resource officers, probation officers, and entire school district leadership team including all building principals. The training resulted in the City of Lyndhurst requesting expanded consultation and education. Contract is in process.
- Proposals for similar trainings have been requested and accepted by the City of Lakewood and City of Cleveland. Additional partnerships are being developed with Towards Employment, Urban Community Schools, and NewBridge Cleveland.
- Sarah Hendrickson authored and submitted a continuing grant for the Trauma Recovery Center through the Attorney General's Office for $2.5 million to support program expansion across the system for SANE and Forensic Nursing and School Health outreach.
- The Trauma Recovery Center hit a milestone this month by serving 1300 unduplicated victims in 2019; surpassing all of 2018. We are on track to serve 250 percent of the number of patients and families we served last year. We have currently served 50 percent of all victims that have presented to MetroHealth system wide.
- The Trauma Survivors Network was honored to share in the 3rd Annual Resiliency Run at The MetroHealth System on June 22nd. Almost 30 Survivors participated in the day's events and the race drew in 100 more registrants than in previous years, totaling almost 300 racers.

Faith Community Outreach/Pastoral Care

- MetroHealth held it first Clergy Open House on Wednesday, June 12, 2019, with 57 clergy members attending. This group of interfaith leaders welcomed by Dr. Boutros followed by a presentation on the Campus Transportation and the new hospital by Walter Jones. Participants also learned of MetroHealth's commitment to providing comprehensive health care to all and community building. In addition, they received brief presentations on Infant Mortality, Open Table, and Breast Amigas.
- The first joint Healing Circle Meeting of the Near Westside and the Southeast Healing Circles was held on Monday, June 24, 2019, with 35 attendees. Participants received an update on trauma and trauma-informed care by Dr. Lisa Ramirez and shared information on new collaborations with community agencies.
- Project Thrive, MetroHealth's faith-based initiative to mitigate the effects of trauma, currently has 17 congregations participating through two Healing Circles. The project will move to quarterly, half-day training sessions to increase the trauma competency and capacity of clergy and congregations to support persons impacted by trauma.
- New internal collaborations and initiatives:
 - Five congregations have begun planning to receive training on injury prevention and Stop the Bleeding.
 - Two congregations will begin planning with MetroHealth to recruit participants for Open Table.
 - Plans are underway for the faith community to collaborate with MetroHealth's Project Dawn to distribute Narcan Kits and Fentanyl test strips through the faith community.

Facilities Management

- Seventy-five utilities interruptions occurred through June. OBC had four power outages, one internally related; the others were from external sources. Cleveland Heights experienced a major power outage as the result of a transformer failure in a nearby building. Lastly, a fallen tree took out power to our Brecksville Ambulatory Surgery and Health Center resulting in a 1 ½ hour power outage.
- Facilities Projects completed in 2019: 60 and Facilities Projects in process: 26

- Nine managers from the FM team attended the NOSHE Annual Conference which featured presentations on a diverse set of topics including: emotional intelligence, new standards for USP 797/800 Pharmacy compounding rooms and Joint Commission standards.

Office of Patient Experience

Arts in Medicine

- The Department of Arts in Medicine partnered with Cleveland Public Theatre (CPT) on ENDependence, an original production that explores the story of pain management, treatment, and best methods for responding to the epidemic. Free performances were held at CPT June 13-15, and at the Columbia and Lorain Public Library Branches and Lorain County Community College June 17-20.
- Spring residencies of the SAFE (Students Are Free to Express) Project concluded in June and marked the successful launch of Pre-K and Kindergarten programming at Harvey Rice Wraparound School. The psychologically informed arts-based curriculum addresses the mental health and well-being of students, is an in-school residency program and led by Arts in Medicine and the School Health Program. Since its inception in 2018 through the close of this academic year, over 700 students in 5 Cleveland Metropolitan School District Schools have participated in 274 workshops, 9 culminating high school showcases, 2 elementary school graduations and a community art walk.

Patient Experience and Engagement

Enterprise Data Analytics

- Members from the Department of Operations Research and Analytics (DORA) deployed an enhanced version of MetroHealth's ambulatory scheduling tool. The new version includes an algorithm, which predicts month-end volumes with greater than 98 percent accuracy, enabling more precise alignment of ambulatory capacity with expected demand.
- In collaboration with Information Systems, Informatics, and clinical operations, DORA is developing analytic tools to identify patient flow barriers, to support inpatient throughput improvements. The initial focus is reducing admission delays from the Emergency Department. Future enhancements will address other throughput opportunities, including room turnover and Operating Room scheduling.

- The Enterprise Program Management Office (EPMO) has partnered with an external organization to offer a new training opportunity entitled “Lean Foundational Skills for Healthcare” to MetroHealth professionals. Participants will learn techniques for providing value to the organization while streamlining process flows, reducing costs, and implementing means to sustain the improvements.
- The EPMO completed migration of all MetroHealth medical images from multiple systems to a single system for storing and accessing medical images, known as a Vendor Neutral Archive (VNA). The new VNA, Acuo, will enable MetroHealth to streamline workflows, facilitate image sharing, and promote security.

Information Technology (IT)

- Information Services successfully integrated MetroHealth’s radiology & cardiology systems with University Hospitals Rainbow Babies & Children's Hospital’s corresponding systems. The integration facilitates collaboration with UH Rainbow Physicians, enabling achievement of our shared goal to provide high-quality, accessible pediatric healthcare to the community.
- Information Services has initiated the relocation process of the secondary Disaster Recovery Data Center from Elyria Memorial Hospital to the Involta data center in Akron. The relocation is scheduled to be completed by the end of September.

Supply Chain

- MetroHealth has partnered with Standvast Healthcare Fulfillment and Zitra Healthcare partners to transform the System’s supply chain into a strategic advantage.
