

THE METROHEALTH SYSTEM
REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT AND CEO
TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
REGULAR MEETING OF OCTOBER 23, 2019

Executive

- MetroHealth welcomes distinguished and respected journalist Joseph Frolik to our leadership team. Joe was named Senior Vice President, Communications, Government and Community Relations. His first day at MetroHealth was Monday, October 14, 2019. Welcome Joe!
- Our employees were invited and encouraged to write an essay with their ideas about transforming Greater Cleveland's economy in support of the Cleveland Rising Summit; a workshop designed to engage a diverse group of people to discuss and set priorities and measurable goals for Greater Cleveland's Future. The employee's essay will be reviewed and if chosen, they can attend the summit to share their thoughts and ideas about transforming Greater Cleveland. These employees can use a hospital business day so they will be paid regular salary for the day.
- The SunTrust Foundation recognized MetroHealth's efforts to build stronger more financially confident communities with a $75,000 grant. The funds will support MetroHealth's forthcoming Employee Housing Assistance Program, designed to increase the number of MetroHealth employees who live within a three-mile radius of the hospital's main and Old Brooklyn campuses.
- Nazha Abughali, MD, Chair of the Department of Pediatrics, has been elected to be a fellow in the Pediatric Infectious Diseases Society (PIDS), the world's largest organization of professionals dedicated to the treatment, control and eradication of infectious diseases affecting children. Congratulations Nazha!
- I'm proud to announce Julie Jacono as MetroHealth's Senior Vice President and Chief Strategy Officer, overseeing the business strategy and development, innovation, performance improvement and market intelligence of our growing System. She will lead MetroHealth's strategy and expansion into nearby counties and other strategic and business development opportunities, along with development of non-traditional business lines like Lumina Imaging, which MetroHealth formed with a leading radiology equipment company earlier this year. Julie has been an integral part of many of our major initiative over the past six years. Her intellect, experience and enthusiasm have played a key role in our success. I am confident she will continue to do so for years to come.
- Dennis Bourbeau, PhD, Staff Scientist in the department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation (PM&R), received a 3-year, $735,000 grand for the Craig H. Neilsen Foundation entitled "Ambulatory closed-loop stimulation to inhibit neurogenic bladder overactivity." This award will help fund improvements for bladder function in patient with spinal cord injury.
- I'd like to share the success of our MetroHealth Care Partners- our System's Accountable Care Organization (ACO). MetroHealth's ACO saved the federal government $6.7 million last year. Through the Medicare Shared Savings Program (MSSP), our System received more than $4.3 million. Our ACO savings rate of 6.9 percent puts us in the top 10 percent nationally and best in the nation among Essential Hospital, those with similar risk profiles. Ours is the only MSSP ACO in the Greater Cleveland market to achieve shared savings for 2017 and 2018. Only 37 percent of the 548 MSSP ACO's across the U.S. achieved shared savings last year.
- I attended Tri-C's Presidential Scholarship Luncheon on Friday, October 11, 2019; where Dr. Alex Johnson and I announced a $1 million partnership investment from MetroHealth to Tri-C. This partnership launches a scholarship fund and provides seed money to open a Tri-C Access Center at MetroHealth's new Institute for H.O.P.E. (Health, Opportunity, Partnership and Empowerment). The Access Center will be incorporated into MetroHealth's planned Institute for H.O.P.E, which will function as a neighborhood hub offering resources to help residents live healthier and more meaningful lives. Our investment supports Tri-C's focus on workforce development and training residents for jobs with family-sustaining wages. In appreciation of this investment, the College will rename a building at the Metropolitan Campus – the MetroHealth Science and Health Careers building.

The congregation is assisting with employment, housing and basic needs support as the parents were forced to relocate to Columbus.
- Project Thrive recently trained the third cohort of congregations on trauma and resiliency to join MetroHealth in mitigating the effects of trauma. The training was a crucial step in forming a Northeast Healing Circle, which is the 3rd; other healing circles are located in Mt. Pleasant and the near west neighborhoods. Additional training is occurring on the Project Thrive operational structure, along with training on grief, spiritual distress and community engagement strategies.

- Project Thrive is receiving requests for community-based, trauma response support to provide "community-care outreach." An $850,000 gift from Dr. Picha completed fundraising for the endowment. A practicing plastic surgeon who trained at MetroHealth early in his career, Dr. Picha received both his medical degree and a doctorate in biomedical/biomaterials engineering from CWRU. He is founder, president and CEO of the Brecksville-based medical device company Applied Medical Technology, Inc.
